Around the School

Morning and evening, these buses carried more than 36.5 per cent of our students to and from their homes. These inanimate objects helped to make our school as large as it is today. In the years to come, buses will still be of a greater need in order to transport the students out to the Southwest Junior High.

Expansion in our school system is the all important item on the school board's agenda. A rapidly increasing population is the major cause for this program. No longer will it be the rural students who are obligated to ride school buses, for now it will also be the urban people going to the outlying schools.

This school year involved a trip too-one of 180 days. It is a journey that was not entirely a pleasure cruise by any means. The seniors would be the first ones to admit this. However, the seniors were not alone on this trip, for while they are completing their term here, apprentices are being trained to move into their recently vacated positions for the coming year.

Between these covers lies the "logbook" of this trip, not only for the seniors, but for the many who are still serving apprenticeships to prepare for the many final senior voyages to be taken in the years to come.

In 180 Days

I brough these doors will pass the graduating seniors of 1958. This is not the only group leaving this building, for a large portion of the Junior High will also be leaving for the new Southwest Junior High School. Both groups are closing one door, only to open another—the door to the future

I his past year these doors have been both a medium of education and entertainment. Many times the assemblies presented to us came from within the realm of our own school. Equally there were as many from the professional field. So often these programs were for civic enjoyment as well as for students.

In a sense this auditorium was the beginning and end of our high school career. Six years ago the graduating seniors of this year were sitting in on an orientation program, designed to help them become more familiar with this new situation during their first day of "going uptown" to school.

Now, six years later, with the bulk of the senior class remaining the same, again we find them in the auditorium, but this time for the annual commencement exercises. They have traveled the last portion of the trip, around our school in 180 days.

Faculty and Administration

Striving to make Albert Lea High School a smoothly functioning institution with a high academic record, the faculty and administration spent every day throughout the 180 days improving the school

I he administration was in charge of immerable functions. Their most important one was to keep the school functioning properly at all times. In addition to this, they kept accurate accounts of attendance, finances of the school and gave counsel to many of the students.

Many teachers not only acted as pedagogues to the students, but also became close friends and counselors. This was probably one of the most important functions of the teachers throughout the year of 1957-58

Leachers were often the object of much vehimence from the students, but the faculty acted only as score keepers for students after they had taught them the fundamentals of their class School was not a place for a social gathering, but rather a place to give the students a keen intellect and to prepare them for their future lives. To make every student a good citizen and well rounded individual was the goal of the faculty

Administrators

Our modern world of today with its Sputniks, guided missiles and unrest badly needs educated people who know how to face and accept the responsibilities with which they are faced.

These people must have the skill and proper training to meet the demands of competition. They must be men and women of character who are reliable, co-operative, and interested in experimentation and progress.

Responsibility for the direction of Albert Lea High School so that its students will be able to cope with the problems which will face them rests upon the shoulders of the administration

Supervision of both maintenance and management of the school provides daily duties for Mr. Beverly H. Hill, superintendent of schools. It is the task of Mr. Hill to coordinate the various functions of the school

Providing good leadership and direction to both the academic and activity program is the aim of Mr. Louis J. Adolphsen, senior high principal. Mr. Adolphsen works closely with the seniors concerning a further education.

Mr. Vermund Andersen, jumor high principal, plans the curriculum and instruction for jumor high students as they begin their years of high school. To give them a sound background for subjects they will meet during the coming years is his primary purpose

Junior High Principal Vermund Anderson

Provide for Prosperous Future

Mr. Irvin J. Anderson, who has completed his second year in the Albert Lea School System. serves in the capacity of administrative assistant.

His many duties include taking the school census, supervising all bus transportation and the caleteria lunch program plus the budgeting and the general imance of the school system.

Although his job consumes much of his time Mr. Anderson finds time for active membership in Rotary Club and the First Lutheran Church

Board of education members are as follows Dr. Leon Steiner, charman, Mr. Theodore Munson, treasurer: Mrs. Dorothy Helhe clerk, Dr. Rudolph Gandrud, director: Mr. William Picka vance, director and Dr. Clayton Nelson, director.

I hose members most recently elected are Di-Gandrud and Mr. Pickavance, Mrs. Hellie, the first woman to serve on the board, is completing her fifth year with the group

The school board meets every second and tourth Tuesday of each month. Its members are elected for terms of three years. Two members come up for election each year thus maintaining a constant level of experience

Highlighting the past year was the declication of the J. John Halverson Elementary School and the Clarks Grove Elementary School

Plans for a southwest junior high school and a southwest elementary school were also completed. These school are expected to be ready for the opening of the 1958 1959 school term

Besides regular duties which include appointments and monthly bills, the board must also determine the policy of District 241, recently changed from 38 to 241. This year's board has been faced with the problem of purchasing a stie for a northside junior high school and also a northside elementary school

English, History

Why English is required is often asked by many students of high school age. The answer is simply that one of the main requirements of success is the knowledge of English. The goal set for all English classes of high school level was to develop the ability to use English as an effective instrument of expression

This year one new English teacher was added to the English department. Mrs. Barbara Ver doorn replaced Mr. Wallace Kennedy

Spelling played a leading part in every English class. Not only were the students dialled on the spelling of the words, but they were also asked to know the pronunciation and the meaning

This year English was required for all students including the jumor journalists. In previous years these students have not been required to take English because of all the experience they gain in writing for the Ah La Ha Sa

The writing of term papers was a part of both the junior and senior English classes. Sophomores learned their writing techniques in book reports and short story writing. This prepared them for their future term paper writing

Although library work was often introduced in the early junior high years it was continued in Senior High. Research papers and book reports required library knowledge

Create Culture

During the past year the seventh graders attended a semester of reading class which was alternated with a semester of art class

This course helped those students who were poor in reading gain better habits and helped the better readers become familiar with greater word usage. Mrs. Winifred Lyon taught this very successful class to the students.

Another class added to the Senior High School this year was cultural history, which was offered to the seniors. This class was taught or a coll lege basis and included lecturing, the some a of music and trips. Literature, music and til were the subjects related together during the lecture period. One hour a week of listening to classical music was required for all the students

Instructors were Mr. Nicholas Cords, music, Mr. Orville Gilmore, literature and Mrs. Patricia Ketterling, art

These history students had the opportunity to take many trips. They took a trip to the Monei-Exhibition at the Minneapolis Institute of Art, "Swan Lake Ballet" in Minneapolis and a play "The Little Foxes" in Mankato

Another trip that was taken by the cultural history students was to a Neo-classical play, "The Rivals," at the University of Minnesota-

World history, required for all sophomores for the first time, acquainted the students with the world's progress from prehistoric times

United States history was taught to the jumors Enlightening themselves on the lamous explorers and officials, they became more familiar with the development of the United States.

Frononics, sociology and American government were the basic elements which comprised the social studies classes for the seniors

Field trips were taken to places of interest to the classes. Among them were tours of Land 'O Lakes and the Montal Colony in Faribauli where classroom studies became tangible

The mathematics program in Junior High consisted of general mathematics and a course in elementary algebra. General mathematics was a required subject in the seventh and eightligrades. This course furnished a review of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division and worked with fractions. More complicated work problems broadened their knowledge of mathematics and taught them the process of logical thinking and deductive reasoning

I his course aided the students in developing their mathematical ability and it offered them a foundation for further mathematical development in more difficult courses which many of the students plan to take when they enter their senior years. Because of the importance which is being stressed on the field of mathematics, students were given special attention

Ninth graders preparing for advanced courses in Senior High were encouraged to take elementary algebra, where they were taught the bis clundamentals of higher mathematics which would help them in their future studies of the more complicated mathematical processes

Semor high training was given in various fields of mathematics. General mathematics was a continuation of the courses taken in Junior High Mathematics, which can be traced back to the Hindu and Arab tribes, contributed much to the school curriculum during the year

Plane geometry was offered as an elective subject to all sophomores, however, juniors and seniors also attended the classes. Geometry was of special interest and value to those students who plan to enter further study in engineering

Juniors who were interested in furthering their mathematical training could enroll in advanced algebra to broaden their knowledge bolid geometry and plane trigonometry were a challenge to seniors. Included in the study of geometry were the measurements and angles of the circle, rectilinear figures and the study of proportion. One semester was required to complete geometry, and the other semester was used to complete a trigonometry course

Most colleges require math credits, and the benior High provided the credits necessary for a college education. All branches of high school mathematics were taught as a basis for college studies. Although there was a difference in the content of the courses offered, there was a smularity in the dealings with higher mathematics and the relationships they all have in common with the rules of mathematics.

Science courses offered in the eighth and ninth grades and Semor High enabled students to better understand the complex world in which they live. A general background is necessary to speak intelligently about earth satellites and missiles which are becoming common words in the English language.

General science courses, required in the eighth and ninth grades, prepared students for the more detailed courses offered in senior high

Living science was emphasized in the eighth grade as names and structures of living plants and animals which included hamsters and an aquaining, were observed. Class demonstrations also added in terest to class work. Individual projects, which showed six hours of work, were required for A and B students. A written paper, chart and a model composed the project.

Matter and energy, electricity, heat and light, sound, and simple machines were some of the units covered by the minth graders

An interesting addition to the classes was a colored television set, which was borrowed for a week from a local firm. Demonstrations were given and students were given the opportunity to adjust the set, observing the changes in color

Thirty percent of the ninth graders prepared projects for the Science Fair held in March Many hours of planning were prerequisites to a well planned and well-constructed project

Biology was required for all sophomores thus completing their laboratory science credit neces sary for graduation. The study of plant and annual life included a study of their structure

Collections made by students early in the fall introduced them to insects and leaves native to the area. Leaves were displayed in booklets and insects were preserved and then classified

Disection of earthworms and frogs proved to be interesting work. A frog's heart was observed when it was preserved in solution

Chemistry and physics could be taken in any sequence by jumors and seniors who wanted to further their science background

I brough laboratory experiments, chemistry students observed chemical reactions. Many hours of student participation proved helpful as students studied the physical and chemical properties of elements. The different types of reactions were observed and written in formulas.

Physics, the science of matter, motion and energy, became more familiar as experiments were conducted, manuals were filled in and problems were solved. General physics laws were applied to the study of matter and energy, sound, light, machines and electricity.

With the new emphasis being placed on scrence courses today, students will find the screntific background helpful to them as they enter the changing world in which they live.

Fine Arts Encourage

Fine arts has become one of the greatest factors in establishing the American culture in our school. Through music and foreign languages, students achieved inherited concepts.

The goal of the French and Spanish classes was not only to learn vocabulary but also to know of the people, their cultural background the physical features, art, music and literal are

Learning such material was accomplished by drawing maps, listening to records and tapes, giving plays, reading great literary works and observing posters of that country

Latin classes of the first year course were taught the fundamentals of Latin Roman stories and vocabulary. To realize the relation be tween Latin and English and to show how Latin is beneficial was basic in beginning Latin.

Students of the second year Latin learned the more difficult Latin and timshed with mythology stories, a Caesar study, and Gaulic wars

Music began in our high school with a study course in seventh grade where music of every kind from jazz to opera was appreciated. The students were also introduced to instruments

Orchestra members were given special training through sectional rehearsal and private lessons. Instruction was for the purpose of creating sounds that would bring enjoyment when instruments were combined into an orchestra

Voices of quality were chosen for the choruses and then trained for performances namely the Christmas and spring concerts

Band members were trained to almost the point of perfection with sectional rehearsals, private lessons and band practical

Art classes and available libraries helped students achieve hobbies, talent and knowledge

In both of the school libraries students worked toward their objectives by reading for pleasure reading assignments and discovering the use of planning work and research work. Our libraries proved they were scientific for each was a laboratory for students of all grades

The junior high library had one special week March 16-22, which was National Book Week A book fair highlighted the occasion when new books were on display for students

English classes gathered at the library every two weeks making the scientific and classical literature available to every junior high student

For the first time in years, the senior high hibrary held no study halls, making it accessible to students at all times. Library instruction was conducted by the librarian

Art class for seventh graders was a required subject which curabled them to discover their art talents and then put them to use in one of the many projects throughout the year. Metal tooling, soap sculpture, Christmas card decorating and pupper making were among the activities worked on throughout the year.

Senior high art classes consisted of the tenth eleventh and twellth graders whose objective was to acquaint themselves with as many medias as possible through weekly individual projects

Charcoal, India ink, tempera paint, oil paints, and crayon were a few of the drawing supplies used to bring out the students artistic talents.

Regardless of whether the graduating senior planned to make business his profession or not, those who were enrolled in the business courses were provided with the valuable training that will help them to lead more efficient lives even if they do not continue in the chosen field

Valuable experience was accumulated by the student typists as they were taught the basic steps of setting up letters and memorandums. The typists strived for speed and accuracy is they progressed in the knowledge of familiarity themselves with the standard keyboard of their machines by constant practice.

Brief forms, sounds and letters were taught to secretarial-minded pupils as they were taught the main points of the art of stenography. Students aimed their sights on the goals of accuracy in the usage of strokes and speed of dictation

Second-year stenography students strived for accuracy in the transcription of their short-hand notes. After taking letters at various speeds, the student was then required to type the letters and make a carbon copy that was mailable

Balance sheets, trial balances, ledgers and profit and loss statements became familiar to students in the bookkeeping course offered to juniors and seniors. This course provided valuable experience for those planning to continue their lutures in the vocation of figures.

Office practice, offered to seniors, dealt with learning while applying practical knowledge billing, the use of the telephone and telegraph services, the operation of the duplication machines, the cutting of stencils and the proper dress for the office worker were included

Business principles, offered to juniors and seniors, prepared students for occupations connected with law and covered many phases of business such as drawing up contracts and wills

Business machines concentrated on familiarizing students with the operation of the many unique machines. Among those available were the dictaphone, mimeograph, time clock, comptonuter and various hand and electric machines

Approximately eight weeks were spent on the dictaphone and four weeks were used in learning the operation of the other useful business machines. These machines enabled the users to gain experience about the control of the machines that would be used in the modern offices.

Vocational agriculture was a three year course given to the farm boys who were interested in farming or any of the related vocations. Swince, beef, dairy and sheep were taken up

In each of these divisions of study, a biological analysis of each animal was undertaken. Fo show that keeping a clean farm is essential, milk testing was included in the curriculum.

Soil conservation was taught, as was farm management, feeding and managing animals, crop and soil tilling and fertilization

The boys keep accurate records and farm accounts as part of the course on management. These were checked by the instructors.

Other very important sections of the training were a study of animals, home projects and crops grown on the individual farms

As a supplement to the vocational agriculture course, the boys joined the Future Farmers of America, a national organization of farm youth

Through the FFA the boys showed their skills with crop raising and animal showmanship at animal and crop shows. They won awards at the county and state fairs and at other local state and national shows for farm youth

Giving boys the practical experience that is necessary to fit them into their individual needs is the purpose of the shop classes.

These shop classes are carried out in a program, starting in the seventh grade and working up through the grades. The program is geared to increase the student's knowledge and abilities in the fields covered by each year's courses. The courses covered are widely varied

I he eighth grade shop course was divided into three separate divisions. Eighteen weeks of the year were devoted to the study of materials and wood working, twelve weeks were spent on mechanical drawing and during the last six weeks a study of plastics was made

Also divided was the ninth grade shop program. One semester was spent learning the prime factors concerning mechanical drawing. The remaining semester was taken up by wood working on projects varying from simple lamps to lawn chairs.

Sophomores, in a one semester course in machine shop, learned to operate such machines as lathes and drills. Jumors and semiors maintained old skills and acquired new ones in their three-hour class during each day.

Efficiency was the motto of the maintenance staff of the junior and senior high school. Main taining the school's heating system as well as everything from sweeping floors to fixing broken equipment was the job of the diligent jaintors.

Some of their specific daily duftes are sweeping floors, cleaning blackboards, emptying waste paper baskets, straightening desks and chairs and picking up after busy students

Students also called upon these men for personal favors too. I hey frequently requested the maintenance staff to repair broken lockers to clean up spilled ink and other mishaps

These men belped to maintain a clean and healthy place for the student body and provided efficient school upkeep throughout the year

Cafeteria Staff Furnishes Nutrition

Feeding hungry studen s and faculty members was the important job of the caleteria staff. They prepared well balanced meals each day of the week that were nourtshing yet inexpensive.

Three appetizing meals were served each day of the week to students purchasing their hot lunch in the high school caleteria during the noon hour. Cota Lorgerson, manager, with his many assistants not only fed the junior high at 11:30 a.m. and the senior high at 12:30 p.m. but they provided lunches for Lincoln School

All meals were planned well in advance and a list was made public to the students through The Uribane. These meals include hot dishes, soups putatoes and meats, sandwiches, milk and desserts for a minimum fee of 25 ct. i.s.

This year since the new cafeteria study half was added, these women also cleaned the study fall desks and chairs immediately following the hour so that the study half was ready for action

These women were always ready with a smile as they worked for the students just is many other staffs do for betterment of the school WAYNE INDRELIE AND BILL KING are shown in a typical pose of they prepare to wash the many dishes returned after lunch

PLEASE GIVE ME A PASS" is the urgent cry of Pote Jacobs as he begs Mr. Reign and Miss Anderson for a pass

Guidance Directed

Students seeking help with personal and vocational problems were greeted by a new senior high counselors' office this year. Room 107 was divided into three cubicles, each containing two desks for each of the respective class advisors, and a universal reception room. A decidedly new feature was the addition of a telephone to each of the individual conference rooms

The Guidance Council was composed of two teachers for each of three grades. Miss Florence Schottler, semor girls, Mr. Egil Hovey, semon toys; Miss Gertrude Piers, junior girls; Misstanley Middlestadt, junior boys; Miss Anni Anderson, sophomore girls; and Mr. Robert Riege, sophomore boys, comprised the advisery committee for the senior high system

College Day, sponsored by the council, was held again this year to enable interested students to confer with representatives from their favorite college or university

Sensors found this office to be especially valuable in the selection of a school of higher hair ing or in choosing a trade school

In Various Fields

Because of the Asiatic flu epidemic this fall the nurses' office was an unusually busy terminal. However, efficiency and kindness were the guidewords as Mrs. Helen Sund and Miss Betty Skaff the school nurses, ably completed their tasks I his office was a vital organ in keeping the school functioning well.

Their regular office duties included issuing admittance passes for junior high, giving eve and ear examinations and treating students who be came ill or injured at school

Drivers training was one of the mediums used to prepare students for their roles as capable citizens. This program consisted of a nine-week classroom course in rules of the road and in the mechanical workings of the motor and 20 hours of actual driving experience

The behind the wheel training was offered to the students by competent and experienced teachers. Cars equipped with dual controls were loaned by local automobile dealers for the students' use. Those students wishing to try for their license were given the opportunity

DEPICTING HOW TO DRIVE a car on the busy roads are Connie Morris and Larry Sorby, two drivers training students.

TELEPHONING AND FILING are only a few of the various tasks of Marlys Ellingson and Cecilia Lune, as they help the nurses

A TYPICAL DAY'S work is portrayed by Mrs. Inga Brenaman, Miss Betty Skaff and Mrs. Helen Sund as they issue admits and check records

Classes

To improve their school and gain new knowledge through the many courses, classes worked avidly throughout the 180 days. Their many class projects and scholastic endeavors gave rich rewards to the hard working students.

Six years in high school gave the individuals the chance to find their place in life and obtain the intelligence to meet the challenges of their new and complex life after graduation. Such fundamentals as English, science, social studies, mathematics, foreign languages and the fine arts were the stepping stones to this new life.

Subjects relating to intellect were taught; students also gamed valuable experience in coping with the problems of their future life. Life is a series of conquests and disappointments, happiness and woe. The various classes through contact with their classmates learned to accept their disappointments and successes with humility, while still maintaining pride and sincerity.

Acquainting themselves with the basic rules and taboos of society was another sought after accomplishment of the classes. Being able to get along with humanity is one of the basic needs of this world. This development of our character was accomplished through contact with the other members of this school, from getting along with our pedagogues and through the academic work of the school

WORKING HARD FOR THE betterment of the school, the executive committee organized and helped to operate many of the years functions. Part of the committee are seen here. SEATED: Pate Hoffman Darleen Osen and Jane Schoenrock. STANDING Bob Gunderson, Tom Brooke Carol Reimer. Pat Heather and Jirah McCornack.

We, the Seniors of '58, Striving

LOOKING FORWARD TO GRADUATION Rone d Osen and Sharon Mubber have a pre-graduation fitting. Somewhere along the one some one has had a little miliup and they seem to have gotten the wrong robes. A land all it was worth it even though it does meen pressing the robes and getting an admit from the office for class.

Working to bring the senior class to a closer unity, the Senior Breakfast, their first big project, was held on November 26. This broke the old tradition of holding it at Christmas time, but all felt that the new change was both welcome and successful. Opening speeches were presented by the Class President Peter Hoffman, Principal Louis J. Adolphsen, Superintendent of Schools B. H. Hill and the Rev. Melford Knutson. Included in the program were readings and vocal and piano numbers by members of the class. The breakfast was brought to a close by a group sing led by Mr. Robert Myers

Career Day, held December 5, helped many seniors decide the all-important question of what colleges to at tend in order to further their education

Learning to work with others, through coop rationand understanding, was gained through participation in the various service clubs such as Hi-Teens, Ushers Club, Red Cross, Honor Society and Audio-Visual. Experience in leadership was derived from membership in 5th dent Council and the Senior Executive Council which represented their classmates.

Musical minded students, and there were many, work ed harmoniously through band, chorus and orchestra For the tenth consecutive year a select group was chosen by Mr. Myers to serve the school and community by singing in Madrigal

An inspiration to all was the beautiful and solenin Baccalaureate Service held on June 1, but the big moment in the lives of all seniors arrived at last with the receiving of their diplomas on June 6

OUR SENIOR YEAR HAS BEEN a busy one with all of our outside activities, our work around the house and at our jobs, but the homework seems to be the biggest problem for Vivan Unseth as she is lead ing up for the nightly trip home. Julie Nash seems to think it's all crazy but after deep consideration, she also loads up.

Our School

School recessed at 3 P.M. for most students. However, light could usually be seen late at night in many rooms where some students were putting in extra time perfecting their lines for a play, practicing a number for a dance the next Friday night or finishing a backdrop

These students were the ones who in addition to maintaining a high scholastic record put forth a little extra effort to see each project through

Selected by a faculty commutee, they devoted their time and talents to music, dramatics, art, sports, jour raism and many other worthwhile organizations.

They were judged on the quality as well as the quantity of the service they rendered to their school and their community during senior high

I his was not a one way proposition, however. Learning to accept responsibility helped them to build strong character, personality and self-confidence as they helped to lead their classmates through their high school years. As they led the school, so they will lead the adult world which they will enter after commencement.

These outstanding students of the class of 1958 were the ones that made the difference around the school.

"SORRY, NO MONEY, no admittence," says John Meissenhalter to moneyless Merlyn Hartzler, as Virginia Harris buys her ticket from Merlene Hunnicutt and Annette Hammer watches. This dance was one of the fund-raising prom projects undertaken by the juniors.

Anxiously auticipating their first prom, junior class members, under the supervision of the prom committee chairmen, worked long and diligently to complete all the preparations. Determined to make it the best prom ever, juniors raised the necessary finances by selling school stationery which was decorated with a tiger in the left hand corner, sponsoring concessions at two school dances and collecting class dues

"Surf and Shadows" was the theme which was carried out. Following the buffet supper in the cafeteria, seniors and juniors danced to Guy DeLeo's Orchestra

Because of the success of the Kiwanis program last year, Kiwanis representatives were again chosen by a laculty committee to attend the weekly Kiwanis meetings and to report the past and future activities of the school

Arrival of class rings was an important day in the lives of the jumors. After much discussion, the class finally chose a 10 carat gold ring with a raised insigma from the samples of rings selected by the class officers

Class co-ordinators, Mrs. Barbara Verdoorn and Mi-Nicholas Cords, and the class counselors, Miss Gertrido Piers and Mr. Stanley Mittelstadi proved very helpful as they patiently counseled the juniors and guided them.

The eighth grade was governed by a student council combined with seventh grade. The council met once a week to discuss some of the school's problems and to suggest how they could help the problems which now exist to be solved. New Time Block Primes Students

As seventh graders entered a whole new school environment, they found that many new subjects were offered. English, physical education, social studies, mathematics, homemaking, shop, hand, orchestra and chorus formed a basis for their future

As the newness of the building and schedules were off, the pupils gradually began to adjust themselves to the crowded conditions. Many new problems in the seventh grade were solved with the help of teachers

There were also several new teachers who were added to the junior high faculty. One newcomer was Miss Lorretta Banovetz, who taught an hour of seventh grade homemaking as well as eleventh grade homemaking beventh grade mathematics teachers were relieved of some of their duties with the help of Mr. Orvis Rake, who taught minth grade algebra. Miss Norma Robson airived as the new junior high physical education teacher Miss Patricia Skarshaug taught seventh grade art while Mr. William Stock taught seventh grade math and shop.

in Language, Social Fundamentals

Aimed at teaching the fundamentals of living and working together, the new Block of Time was introduced in the seventh grade. A definite attempt was made to help the students feel more secure

The populs spent two hours a day with a teacher for one half of the year, and during the other half of the year, the same pupil and teacher would spend three hours a day with each other. This taught constructive school discipline and control to the students Another new course offered for the first time this year was a course in which voluntary students could acquire skill in reading. Taught by Mrs. Winitred Lyon, the students learned basic sight reading, vocabulary comprehension and became familiar with consonant and vowel sounds and blends

Graphs were kept to show weekly improvement and books were read about the students' particular interests

Seventh Graders Show Initiative

Inder the leadership of Miss Millie Holm, eighth grade mathematics teacher, the members of the Servic Club were given a chance to earn special points as they assisted teachers by correcting daily papers and doing other duties. Thus, the teachers had more time to give individual help and attention

Laking, developing and enlarging pictures was the main objective of the Photography Club. Under the direction of Mr. Russell Harding, the members also did other special projects such as making Christmas cards

Organizations

In addition to the classes, the organizations proved the most valuable source of knowledge for high school life. Organizations of almost every type were open to all students

There were clubs devoted to service for the school and community such as Red Cross and Ushers Club. Organizations like Rifle Club, FFA, Chess Club and FHA afforded students an outlet for their special talents. Journalism and Drama proved the first step in a vocation for many interested individuals. Still other organizations such as National Honor Society brought distinction and recognition for the participants.

An organization continually working towards a better school was Student Council who carried out various projects to improve the school. Be sides these endeavors, the Council also served as a sponsor for many clubs and activities

Often times a student was interested only in the glory of an organization and did not work to support the activity. This cannot be don for only through an avid interest of all members may a club be worthwhile. However, many a club is a point, their organizations whole-heartedly, thus making the year truly successful

All activities carried on by the Student Council were delegated to the various standing committees. The functioning groups were election, to supervise elections. Oscar. to recommend nominees; social, to schedule dances; traffic and safety, to oversee the halls, huance, to plan a budget and assembly, to set up the programs for the coming year. When the need arose, a specific committee was appointed to fill the situation.

Clubs chartered under Student Council were Lettermen's Club, Cheerleaders, Swing Band, Ushers Club, Rifle Club and Pep Club. In addition to being infanced by the Student Council, they were also able to send representatives to the meetings

Retain Standards Set in the Past

To plan the annual Homecoming Festivities was the first major project undertaken by the Student Council. I radition was broken as the number of Homecoming queen candidates was changed from five to seven. Spirited student using the theme "Can the Birds" labored to make all homecoming activities successes.

To brighten Christmas for the patients at the Gillette State Hospital for Crippled Children in St. Paul, the Student Council sponsored a charity tree. Bulbs to decorate the tree sold for filteen, twenty-five and filty cents.

Gited as the number one money making project of the Student Council, the minth annual Tigers' Roar, Bon Voyage, under the supervision of Mrs. Barbara Verdoorn, was presented January 24, 25 and 17

In cooperation with the Youth Council, the Winter Carnival took place during Christmas vacation. Another first for this year's Student Council was the establishment of an ethics committee for the counseling of students.

The summer before they took office, the officers gained valuable knowledge as they represented Albert Lea School High School, Paul Nesheim attended Boys' State, Michael Gaetze, the Minnesota Convention, Barbara Lee, Girls' State, and Karen Jorgenson, the National Student Council Leadership Conference held in Estes Park.

TAKING CHARGE OF MAKING and distributing posters were the tasks of the publicity committee, Physlis Gunderson, chairman. Dick Core, Fred Jones, Dave Skogheim and Nancy Lee.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS AND SCHEDULING ASSEMBLIES was the job of Paul Hill, Jim Glosne and Gary Myran, chairman of the assembly committee.

Esteem Through Numerous Projects

During the year numerous projects were ambitiously worked on and carried out. Among the many accomplishments was the Have-A-Heart campaign. The countil encouraged everyone to give generously by conducting a contest between the various homerooms and presenting an award to the homeroom in each grade that contributed the most money. Proceeds were distributed to numerous worthy charities

Other successful projects were acting as guides for the Back-to-5chool Night for parents, operating a lost and found department, taking announcements to classes that had no loud speakers, decorating the Christmas trees and taking them down again, placing wastebaskets in the corridors and sponsoring a ninth grade social.

Council members were elected for a term of one semester. Because of the large number of members, seventh and eighth graders met at a different time than the minth graders to accommodate all

Perfection Throughout Busy Year

After the holiday season the group began working on music for the Spring Concert. They also anxiously awaited the Big Nine Music Festival at Owatonia. Then they participated in the mass chorus as well as in a separate concert which included selections they had sung throughout the year

One of the highlights of the year was the bi-annual trip which they took to Minneapolis in May

Members of the A Chorus not only received yoral and musical training which they will carry with them to entich their lives in later years, but they also learned the discipline that is necessary for working in a log or ap-

Madrigal Observes Tenth Year

SURPRISE CAPTURED Robert Myers' foce at the tenth anniversary surprise party as the lights went on and revealed the alumni who sang with the Madrigal Singers while in high school

Ont of the busiest seasons ever" aptly describes this year's Madrigal Singers. Under the direction of Mi-Robert Myers, this group of 49 members was selected by tryout from the A Chorus

During the Christmas season the Madrigals performed for the service clubs, many church organizations and participated in the annual Christmas Concert. Featured in these appearances were the "Nutcracker Suite", "The Skigh" and "Mr. Santa", a novelty time which ended all of the engagements. "Flodic Christus Natus Est" was another outstanding number sung by the Madrigals, who served as a nucleus for the A Chorus

Mr. Myers was honored at a surprise party to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Madrigal Singers on December 30 in Bethany Hall of the First Lutheran Church. Attending were past and present members from the last ten years. Among those present were some of the first soloists and accompanists coming from as far as Boston, Massachusetts, Saint Louis, Missouri and Florida in order to take part in the gay festivities.

During the party a program was presented feature 2 s 15 by past members. Afterwards, Mr. Mivers led everyone in group singing of familiar songs which ended the memorable events.

Freshmen Show Promising Talent

During their first experience in singing in a mixed lour part choral group, minth graders accomplished much musically. They were training in preparation for the coming years when they hope to participate in semoil light vocal groups. The ninth grade singers were divided into two groups, numbering over 100 each, which meton Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Their first performance together was at the annual Christmas Concert where they helped to open the candle 15, it procession with the single of several Christmas carols. As is the tradition, the minth chorus, dressed in white shirts and blouses and dark skirts and trousers, were seated in the balcony where they performed. In the program, they sang "O Holy Night" and "All Yo Good People" with Norma Stephens as soloist

The group give their own program for a special Junior High Christmas Assembly. Here they sang other Christmas carols and Myrna Nelson accompanied the group on the maximba during the singing of "Silent Number 1981".

D STRIBUTING BOOKS before class was the task of Roger Christian son and Gary Walter with the "help" of two kibitzers, James Groos and Frank Ostby

During the year the group diffied to gain musical skills which they would need to gain perfection. They sang many folk songs and old favorites out of the "thin blue" and the "thick blue" song books. Such songs as "This Is My Country," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and numerous spirituals became favorites

Some of the selections that they dil cently practiced as the year drew to a close were. The Happy Wanders "Old King Grow," "The Eric Can=1 and "La Paloma"

In the spring the chorus gave a choral concert at a panior high assembly. In May they participated in the Spring Concert. After each of the various choral groups had performed individually, they combined with the other choruses to sing the closing songs.

Meanwhile, plans were being made as to the fate of this group for the time when the new junior high will be opened. With memories of their junior high chorus activities tucked away, these minth graders prepared to assume the duties of the semon high choruses.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT was the motto of Norma Stephens, Myrna Nelson, Mary Gilbertson and Sharon Kurth, ninth grade soloists and accompanists.

With the mounting of the director to the podium heralding trumpets pierce the silence, drums roll, cymbals clash and the band begins its repertoire. Both studen body and community audiences recall this familiar scene as the Senior High School Band presented numerous concerts in the aud to num

The band proved itself an asset to the community is well as the school when playing for the Freeborn County Fair and participating in numerous city parades

Highlighting their summer engagements, the band won first place in the High School Ma ching Division a the evening illuminated Aquatennial Parade in Minni apolis. Second place honors in the same division of the entire Aquatennial Week were also awarded to the band for their achievements

Adding his talents to the versatility of the band. Don L. Sorenson, a graduate of Albert Lea High School planned a complete program of intricate marching maneuvers. This program, "California Caravan," consisting of various formations representing a cross-country tour of several states, was presented by the band during the half-time of a football game. Homecoming also found the band on hand to entertain the speciators with high-stepping maneuvers and familiar strain.

In Marching and Concert Reviews

Striving toward perfection both in their playing techniques and marching maneuvers, the band, under the direction of Mr. L. J. Emmons, could be seen and heard practicing first hour each day

Pep assemblies and basketball contests claimed the talents of a small pep band composed of select musicians some students formed a sax quartet and a brass sexter which were called upon to appear at various occasions.

Hours of practice were rewarded on the memorable occasion of the Big Nine Music Festival held in Owatonna Select members also participated in the All Conference Band and Orchestra. The annual Spring Concert held on April 30, climaxed the band's appearances during the regular school year

A program of specialized marches and exhibitions still in the planning stage, is being drawn up by Don and Mr Emmons. The hand will present this program in honor of Minnesota's Centennial Celebration sometime during the summer

Laking over the duties of president and vice-president of the band during the 1957-58 were Roger Berg and bally Olsen, respectively. Assisting Mr. Emmons with he filing of music was the secretary, Anne Esse

FOUR BOYS with a lot of "sex appeal" who are always ready to demonstrate on short notice are these members of the senior bond quartet: David Jordahl, David Olson, Date Olson and Jim Blackburn

PRACTICING TO PERFECT new musical selections are these members of the flute quartet: Karen Meixell, Andrea Rutherford, Mary Niebuhr and Janice Morreim.

In paring themselves for entrance into Senior Band the Junior Band diligently practiced every day during the third hour. Because the enrollment has risen greatly within the last few years, the band room is getting quite crowded. These enthusiastic members overlooked this, however, and strived to do their very best

Also, to help improve the members Mr. L. J. Emmons took the time to live each person an individualesson. These lessons inspired them to practice more

During the summer the band saw action when they marched in a parade for the recreation department

Continuing a previous tradition, the Jumor Band played before the atternoon grandstand at the Freeborn County Fair. Later in the same day, they played a concert which was thoroughly enjoyed by the old settlers

Another redition kept by the band was the Kiwanis Peanut Parish which was held after school started

Marching down the street to various marching numbers, they by a tened the Homeconing Parade by their slick white uniforms. This was thrilling to the juntor highers and a so proved to be excellent experience

Another concert was presented before the Jumor High School early in December. By doing this, they displayed their many accompositionents within a few months

Both overtures and light numbers were played Among them were the "Albaman March," "Morning Papers," "Martha Overture" and "Ghallenger

Many soloists developed during the course of the year. Alice Thompson played a clarinet solo entitled Pepperino" and Bruce Waterman played "Neopolitan Nights." Ray Hurst played a horn solo, "Andante A flute quartette was also discovered—Andrea Rutherlord, Mary Niebuhr, Janice Morreim and Karen Meixell who played "French Clock."

Early in the year, hand members began practicing for the annual Spring Concert which was held in April Proving their worth, the band members memorized their entire concert. This involves many hours of practicing It takes a qualified person to memorize several songs.

By memorizing numbers, a certain rivalry is developed, and everyone works harder to defend his position

Under the capable direction of Mr. Lester Strictucal members of the Senior High School Orchestra practical dibgently to perfect the playing of the compositions they presented at their numerous appearances

Presenting a senior high assembly, the orchestra delighted the students with renditions in several veins of music. A similar performance brought enjoyment to Rotary members when the orchestra presented a concert for them at one of their March meetings.

The orchestra toured to Janesville, Minnesota, and Mankato State College on February 11 and presented their repertoire to various audiences. After much practice, the annual public Orchestra Concert was given on February 25 in the auditorium

The Big Nine Music Festival presented another thallenge to the musicians when they traveled to Owa tonna on May 2 to participate in the select orchestra as well as the other events

A special string orchestra made up of select members provided background muso for various community groups throughout the year

All the dramatic productions as well as at two Honor Society Initiations claimed the services of the orchestra Jast the right touch was added by the orchestra at the baccalaureate and graduation ceremonies, which concluded the year for the instrumentalists.

Due to crowded conditions within the school, the Presbyterian Church became the site of rehearsals for the Senior High Orchestra during the last half of the year Edmund Nelson plays while Mr. Adolphson narrates and Jean Scherb and Bob Kaufmann watch the procedure in wonderment.

Completing a successful year after two year on trial the Junior High Orchestra looked forward to a bright future under the direction of Mr. Lester Streimer.

Consisting of 43 strings and 17 brass instruments, the orchestra appeared many times throughout the year

In October the orchestra presented a school assembly to the junior high students. Many instrumentals, as well as novelty numbers were rendered by the members

The Junior High Orchestra played in the annual concert on February 25. In the spring they traveled to Hay ward to play for the PTA. To conclude the year the orchestra held another junior high assembly in May

This past year, for the first time in 75 years the or chestra had a private room. In January, it moved to the assement of the Presbyterian Church. Up until that time, the orchestra had been pushed between the cate teria and the auditorium. Plans are in process for an O ches it Half or, he this I poind I man High

Under the live is o statent hade. Rog r Berg the Swee Band is neurod just save and the high school. Styled after the famed Stan Kenton band, the Swing Band had in its repertoire such numbers as "Artistry Jumps," their theme song, "Intermission Rifl, "Dynaflow," "Peanut Vendor" and "Night Train."

With the use of progressive jazz, the members had many opportunities for solos. Dale Olsen's improvisations had the touch that made the band sound very capable and very professional

Jerry Felle, during his six week stay as a music practice teacher, helped the band in interpreting the dillicult big band arrangements.

Using five trumpets, five trombones and five saxes, the band was the largest the school has ever had

The trumpet parts were played by Bob Hershey, David Hanson, Conrad Wangen, Tom Dahl and Paul Hill Making up the trombone section were Sven Maitson David Johnson, Donald Tasker, Del Bosacker and Frank Ruerup

The sax section was comprised of Dale Olsen, James Blackburn, David Olson, Robert Anderson and David Jordahl. Roger Berg, piano; Paul Johnson, bass and Keith Stiles, drums, composed the rhythm section

Practicing without an adviser most of the time, the band worked long, hard hours in preparation for a dance or some other activity for which they played

The Tiger's Roar provided the swing hand with an opportunity to display its talent. To some of the numbers already mentioned, the band added a few concertuanthers for the Roat

I hose attending the Tiger's Roar cast party saw the band split into two groups and have a battle of bands. All the semiors composed one unit, while the jumors and sophomores outdid their efforts with another band.

Setting up the band stand on the first floor, the swing band gave the students a chance to dance in the halls after a home basketball game.

Highlight of the year was a spring concert presented to the high school at an assembly. Playing over television at Austin was a new experience for the newer members while some of the enjoyment was taken out of the year when the Mankato assembly was cancelled

An old time sax quarter comprised of Dale Olsen, first alto; Jim Blackburn, tenor; David Olson, third alto and David Jordahl, baritone, added a little variety at some of the school dances with a few enlivening polkas, waitzes and schottisches

Zealous Modern Language Students

"ENTREZ DANS LA SALLE DE CLASSE," suggests Robert Screnson French Club president and Ronald Matthies, vice president, to Eleanor Pereu, club secretary, and Judith Olson, treasurer

To create an interest in French, the French Club gave members a chance to learn more about France and its language by listening to French music, both old and new, it may famous stories and books in their original form and singing French songs. This proved to be fun as well is being a definite aid in helping students become linguists. A subscription to the "Paris Match," a French magazine, helped students to learn applied French

Miss Ruth Bauer, French instructor and French Club adviser, helped carry through the interest in French Club by relating her personal experiences in Europe during the club meetings. She also arranged to have French movies for the club. At Christmas time the members read Christmas stories and learned many French cuols

Many times the students divided into discussion groups where they were permitted to talk about anything as long as they spoke in French. Games, both brench and those native to America, were played but here also they could only speak French. This proved to be a lot of fun when someone became excited and couldn't think of the proper French words.

Break Barriers in Shrinking World

To learn about South American countries was the main theme of this year's Spanish Club. During each meeting of this active group, a report explaining their tustoms was given on one of the countries.

Another project included the using of a tape recorder so that the second year class could record songs in Span sh to be played for the first year class. This helped them in learning the words and soon they were able to participate in and enjoy this club activity. The tape tecorder was also used to give club members practice in translation and provided a means of becoming more familiar with the langua.

Under the helpful guidance of Miss Ruth Bauer, in structor, the business meetings were held every two weeks. Meetings outside of school featured experimentation with recipes of Spanish food.

During the Christmas season students held their annual party featuring the breaking of the pinata

Correspondence with Spanish-speaking pen pals was another added attraction to this year's Spanish Club I brough this they acquired interesting information about the customs and life of other people in other countries and became good friends with the students to whom they were writing

Promote Education and Fun In JCL

Promoting an appreciation for the classic languages and their cultures, the Junior Classical League functions in Albert Lea High School. Under the supervision of Miss Clara Berdan, members of the club learned more about the laws, literature and government upon which our modern culture is founded

Membership in the organization included all interested students who have had two years of Latin

The annual initiation ceremony had to be dropped this year because Miss Berdan became incapacitated with a broken ankle. Those who joined were accepted during December in a private ceremony in the classes

Enlarged upon because of missing the mitiation, the annual banquet, February 4, was a great success. Alter the meal the members were entertained by skits of old mythology and historic events. Each member put in many hours of work on the year's highlight

Journeying to Northfield, the JCL men bers attended the sixth annual state convention on the campus of Carleton College. Bryan Neel, state vice president, aided in organizing the program

The national Juntor Classical I congress e was founded in 1935 by the American Classical League and was organized here in 1939. A national convention is held by an intelly to which any member is invited.

In striving for unity and friendship, members of Hi-Leens worked together on many useful projects through out the school year. Open to all girls in Semor High, more than 250 girls belonged to this organization

The organizational meeting, held in September, initiated the year for Hi-Feeners. Working diligently on Homecoming, Hi-Feens was in charge of the dance decorations and in charge of making poin poins

Highlighting the October meeting was the Halloween party where the girls came dressed in weird costumes. Each class gave a skit, with the sophomore class winning

Guests at the December meeting were the girls' mothers. The girls presented a style show, one of the annual events in cooperation with a local department store

Another annual event, the Kitten's Mcow, a miniature Liger's Roar, was put on by the girls in March

At Easter, the Hi Teeners made favors which went to Naeve Hospital. A special program of the year featured Robert Sorenson, AFS student, who gave a talk on Germany along with many picturesque slides.

Success was achieved as the Drama Dep 1505 m their 1957-58 season when the Masquers presented then filteenth major production, "Father of the Bride." I his was a delightful three-act comedy which kept the students busy for weeks and the audience amused and happy

"The Came Mutiny Court Martial" climaxed the year for the Albert Lea High School Drama Club

This was the tense court martial proceedings against a young, upright heutenant who reheved his captain of his command in the midst of a harrowing typhoon on the grounds that the captain was psychopathic and in the crisis was directing his ship and crew to destruction

Another challenge was met as students and advisers worked to perfect a dramatic reading which was presented to the student body. "John Brown's Body", an intimate narrative of the Civil War which was related in poetic diction, brings about a realization of the Southern racial problem, which was vivid, stirring and brilliant It was an exceptional performance by the Speech Chon Madrigal Singers, the Orchestra and three solo leads

Society Sponsors Traditional Drive

"THIS ONE CAME FROM SWEDEN!" remarks Bryan Neel, president of the Honor Society, to Judy Myers, vice president; Jim Nettleton treasurer and Angie Warrington, secretary, as they admire U. N. Christmas cards which they sold.

Character, scholarship, leadership and service are the ideals that members of National Honor Society tried to uphold. A grade average of 3.0 was essential before anyone could apply for admittance

I hirteen jumors were initiated last spring with these students forming the nucleus of the society until the fall initiation, December 11. A. Ali Khan, exchange editor from East Pakistan, was the guest speaker. Following the ceremony, new members and their mothers were invited to a tea in the home economics living room

Helping to stress United Nations Day, October 24, members sold food made from recipes from countries in the United Nations. Food was sold during the lunch periods with the money going to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund

Selling Christmas cards raised money for members to contribute to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. One hundred boxes were sold for an all-time high

Honor Society members highlighted their successful year with the annual "Have A Heart" Drive held keb many 5-11. During the week members sold hearts for 25 cents, 50 cents and one dollar

Chimaxing the week was the dance at which the King and Queen of Hearts were crowned. Proceeds from the week's work were divided among seven charnies

Adviser of the Honor Society was Miss Ruth Woods. Her guidance led the members through a successful year.

To gam a better insight into chemistry, biology and other scientific helds was the principal aim sought by members of the Science Club. Regular meetings were held on alternating Thursdays in room 103, under the supervision of Mr. Dale Shuldes. This was Mr. Shuldes list year with the Science Club.

Members were encouraged to undertake various projects of their own as well as participate in those endorsed by the entire club. Included in these were those of Lerry Katzung who experimented with electrolytic analysis of water solutions. Bob Hovey who made a model of a hydrogen furnace, Jerry Oothoudt who erected a rocket model and Larry Bolton who experimented with the production and transmission of electricity

Those students with outstanding projects journeyed to Rochester April 19 where they showed their scientific aptitudes at the Regional Science Fair

Group activities consisted of field trips to various places of interest in the surrounding area and tours of industries in and around Albert Lea

For the Homecoming Parade a float was entered by the club with a large cannon having the inscription. Blast The Birds

In choosing and qualifying sophomores and juniors, a practicing period offered the opportunity for the eligible members to receive instruction on reading of tick ets and the proper procedure in ushering a person to his scat. A reading tickets test was administered for the purpose of finding the girls who were alert and fast Qualities such as personality and dependability were also taken into consideration

Social events were held, such as potlucks and punch parties, to provide a time when the ushers could talk over problems they met in actual ushering

To make the Ushers Club completely successful in its service, the ushers had to put forth effort in working et ficiently with one another. Future Educators Are Encouraged

CONDUCTING THE FTA MEETINGS this year were officers: Sonia Syverson, Evelyn Wood, Duone Herves and Bonnie DeVries

After a variety of activities, the McGuffy Future Leachers of America concluded its fourth year of exist cuce in the Albert Lea High School

FIA, a national organization, endeavors to encour age students to consider teaching as a career if the necessary qualities of character and scholarship are possessed

To gain knowledge about their future career, FTA members met every second and fourth Tuesday of the month alternating meetings with business and programs

Club officers Evelyn Wood, president; Bonnie De Vries, vice president; Sonia Syverson, secretary and Duani Harves, treasurer worked with the club to form a competent, worthwhile organization

Mrs. Barbara Verdoorn offered a helping hand by assisting as the new faculty adviser

FIA's Homecoming float portrayed the slogar They'll Never Learn Construction of a red school house carried out the them.

To Enter the Teaching Profession

Fall initiation was held in the home economics living room to install 25 new members. Essential teaching qualities were revealed by seniors

Potlucks proved to be the peak of the social activities when FTA met at various homes. Mrs. Arie DeVries enlightened the club at the winter tea when she revealed expensiones of her rural teaching career

Service to the community was a goal reached when gifts were sent to mentally retarded children. Present could not be breakable and each was specially wrapped.

Successful money raising projects were a bake sale and an April dance. Homemade cookies, cakes and candies were sold at the Valentine's Day sale

Highlighting the active club year was a visit to the J. John Halverson Elementary School. Members viewed actual elementary teaching procedure

Sen or members received certificates which were awarded at the end of the year if the annual requirement of 50 points was achieved. Observing classroom him tions, preparing club meetings and assisting in class were duties that merited points toward the honor.

With the morro "Toward New Horizons" the Ashert Lea Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America be gan their fourth year of service to school and community

During the fair the girls worked with the Future Farmers of America in a concession stand to earn money to finance the projects of the coming year

The chapter held an impressive candlelight initial on ceremony. Each girl received a small red rose and a program outlining the coming year. The chapter mother, Mrs. Amos Knutson; the chapter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Herman and the chapter adviser, Miss Beyerly Knutson, were introduced. Members and guests then went to the calcteria for a tea.

To acquaint the mothers with the FHA, the club held a Mother-Daughter Tea at which Carol Ferguson president, explained the year's program and announced the clothing drive for the mental home at Fambault

As their second joint project, the FHA and FFA celebrated the hobday season with their annual Christ mas party. They began the evening by caroling at the nursing homes in and near Albert Lea. Afterwards the fellows and girls played games, danced and ate aunch at the YMCA. The party was chaperoned by Mr and Mrs. Herman, Miss Knutson and Mr. Donald Paul son, who is the FFA chapter adviser

Another of the joint activities in which the FFA and FHA participated was the "Gingham and Denim" Party The fellows and girls spent the major part of the evening square-dancing followed by refreshments.

As their main financial project, the girls sold gold and silver graduation medallions with the numbers symbolizing the year of graduation

Since one of the goals of the FHA is to understand our neighbors at home and abroad, the girls promoted an international smorgasbord. Each member brought food which originated in or was typical of another country. The girls wore foreign costumes

In the spring the chapter held a tea for prospective members and the new officers were installed. Each of the girls received a pamphlet explaining the organization. This little booklet helped the girls understand the chapter, its goals and projects

Near the end of the school year, the chapter held its annual picture for the seniors. This gave them a chance to reminisce about the projects of past years

Diversified Furnished Opportunities

Gaining vocational knowledge by working part-time for local businessmen, gave the 25 members of the Diversified Club the experience needed for future employment. Students enrolled in diversified chose a job from one of three main areas, miscellaneous trades, office work and distributive work.

Under the training of Mr. Norman Bailey, the students learn how to find an occupation suitable to their needs. The students also learn the techniques of good business.

Students enrolled in this program were not primarily interested in earning extra money but the main interest lay in wanting to learn a specific vocation

Besides being for students who do not plan to attend rollege, the club enables members to earn money which helps some to attend school who probably couldn't aftord to otherwise The 25 diversified members could obtain four credits during their membership in the club. They took English, social, their special diversified class with Mr. Bailey, the coordinator; and instead of attending classes at the school in the atternoon, the members began work at 1 p.m. each day. Members of the diversified worked an average of 30 hours a week

During the distributive class, the members this year followed a new system to obtain more learning in sales manship. The members spent three days reading and studying which was called related instruction and two days were spent doing book work

Each member of the Diversified Club filled out records which covered the function of his job. The records were then checked by Mr. Bailey, and sent to the state office so the state had a check on the progress each student was making on his job

To Interested Vocational Students

In order to provide for a better qualification for this course, students thinking of entering the program were advised to take such subjects as bookkeeping, typing, business principles and machines and office practice

Members of diversified not only had their job and school classes, but they also attend local meetings, region al meetings and conventions. They first attended the regional Pre-delegate Assembly on October 23 at which students were chosen for state offices. Then on November 6 the members journeyed to the South St. Paul to attend the Delegate Convention at which Julene Johnson was chosen vice president of the Minnesota Diversified Vovational Club. A two-day State Convention was held in April at St. Paul which the members also attended

Future business leaders of the Albert Lea local chapter also attended an Employers and Employees Banquet in May. Besides holding weekly meetings, the club had parties during the year WONDERING IF THE TIME of space travel has arrived. Norman Bailey and Larry Stern inspect the modern Sputnik

Gaining further experience in farming by participating in the Future Farmers of America, members completed another year of the Albert Lea Chapter

Projects in the divisions of dairy, crop, hog, poultry and livestock broadened and improved the back round of each participant. These projects, carried on at home contributed to cooperation between the FFAers and instructors, Mr. Don Paulson and Mr. Lowell Ross, who helped organize each boy's home project.

Participation in livestock shows was one of the features of the year for those who are in that division. These included the county fair, the Spring Barrow Show and many others. Shows gave the student a chance to put his animal in prize-winning condition. Trophies are displayed in the Albert Lea Chapter's show case which always holds many presentations.

Rifle, Chess Clubs Start Activities

Incorporated last spring by a group of sports-minded boys, the Rifle Club began its first full year of existence It was started to improve marksmanship, to promote gun safety and to teach members good sportsmanship

Early in the year, the otheers for the club were elected. They were Douglas Hill, president: Donald Tasker vice president: Sydney Schwartz, secretary and Howard Thompson, treasurer

Meetings were held bi-weekly, with shooting procarheld each week in the Armory. Nothing is done to conduct formal field trips, but many went hunting and practiced shooting with other members of the club on individual trips during the year. The group was advised by Mr. Sydney Schwartz Simdustrial arts teacher and Mr. Holger Knudsen, Jr., a local businessman. Mr. Knudsen was very instrumental in forming the club and has assisted the group in the various aspects of its organization.

While meeting in the Armory, the club's twenty members practice shooting. Targets were purchased with money borrowed from the Student Council, after the club's constitution was approved

The school Rifle Club joined the National Rifle Association, a group of people interested in firearms Upon joining the NRA, the local club was given five target rifles. An additional rifle was received for each three members installed

Quill and Scroll Initiates Members

Among the various activities which Junior and Senior High chessmen engaged in during the year were chess ladder-tournaments, competitive matches with the chess club of Owatonna High and individual tournaments between junior and senior high members.

ALHS thesemen handed Owatonna a 8-1 defeat and the junior high chesemen were defeated by the more experienced Senior chesemen by a score of 9-3. Ladder tournaments found Roger Christenson and Daryl Rosenberg leading the way for junior and senior high clubs.

President Daryl Rosenberg displayed not only suption efforts in guiding the executive duties of the club, but also showed marked showmanship by remaining "topman on the ladder" throughout the year While striving to produce the best school paper and All American Yearbook, the journalists had an opportunity to qualify for membership in Quill and Scroll

General journalistic aptitude, a minimum of 1500 words and the submittance of a copy of one's work at companied each journalist's application for membership but those who did not qualify during their junior year, a second application, with all qualifications the same except that a minimum 2500 words was required

In the Spring the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet was held. Miss Edna Gercken, adviser, distributed awards and the seniors bid farewell with the annuncing of the 1958-59 Tiger staff.

White workin, on the Ah La Ha Sa staff headed by Ahon Bushman, the journalists received added responsibility as they procured positions on the Tiger stail announced at the annual Quill and Scroll Banque:

One of the first tasks of the new staff was selecting a theme to bind the entire book together. After many suggestions and much controversy, the theme "Around the School in 180 Days" was selected

Carrying out the theme and co-ordinating the activities was the responsibility of Karen Jorgenson and Ronald Matthies, co-editors. Subscription drives were held early in the fall throughout the entire school and town. In charge of all money obtained from subscriptions and delivering all the books were the publicity and circulation manages.

As the copy and identifications were written the job of the literary editor proved monumental. She was responsible for correcting a lawritten material in the Tiger

The tasks of the business managers included providing refreshments at athletic events, as well as keeping accurate accounts of all the finances for the yearbook

The remaining positions were taken over by ambitions journalists. Some of the students' duties were requisitioning pictures, arranging pictures, drawing page make-ups and writing copy and headlines

Orientating the students with the various ways of writing and drawing page make-ups and acquainting them with basic grammar rules was the chief endcayor of Miss Edna Gercken, publications adviser

In addition to their editorial duties, the journalists reimbursed their funds by selling at various athletic events throughout the year. Assisting the students in their financial projects were Miss Marie Skjeveland, Mr. Aithur Anthony and Mr. Charles Fairchild, business advisers to the group. Bowers candy and Readers' Digest subscriptions were sold along with candy on buses.

Richard Nelson and Jeffrey Larson spent many hours taking pictures and developing them. Assisting the photographers was the purpose of the newly created position of photography editor. Providing information and teaching them new techniques was the duty of Mr. Orville Gilmore, adviser to the photographers

To learn new methods and perfect work, three journalists traveled to Chicago and many of the students at tended conventions in Faribault and Minneapolis during their two years of journalism

"POSING" FOR THE PHOTOGRAPHER Dick Nelson, are Sally Steiner Dienne Menthei. Pat Bater, Tony Gudvangen and Carol Bisgoard, editors of the organization section.

Journalists Enter

Venturing into a new field, that of journalistic writing, 50 junior journalists were taught the techniques of journalism under the guidance of Miss Edna Gercken Page makeups, pica sticks, galleys and page proofs became the foundation for the duties they inherited

Publication of the Student Directory was one of their money making projects. Compiling the names of the students' addresses and telephone numbers, they learned to assume responsibility and meet deadlines. They also acquired the fundamentals of arranging copy and proof-reading all material

By soliciting advertisers the journalists discovered a new aspect in the business field. The profit which was secured from the directory was used to help finance the vearbook. Ads for this year's directory surmounted those of other directories which have been published in previous years with a total of 198 business firms advertising.

At the beginning of the second semester the juniors assumed the job of editing and managing the Ah La Ha Sa. I broughout the year they discovered the hard work that goes into putting out a paper, but they also received many rewards for their end avors

Making arrangements with the printer and correcting all copy was the responsibility of the editor-in-chief

Page editors drew up the make-ups finding different variations, assigned stories and corrected copy. They also made sure that all deadlines were met with promptness.

Other phases in journalism that were perfected were the jobs of advertising, circulation, art and exchanging papers with other schools in order to accumulate new ideas. Business managers handled the budget and carried out all business transactions. The backbone of the paper, the reporters, reported the news and got interviews which made the paper successful

By selling pop, candy, pop corn and other refreshments, junior journalists worked with the seniors and made a profit of approximately 500 dollars during the football season. Candy and pop was also sold at the basketball games throughout the season

Another extremely effective money making project was selling Bower's caudy. The profit from these projects was used to finance the Ah La Ha Sa and the Tiger.

Attending the Big Nine Journalism Chnic at Fari battle and the state convention at Minneapolis, the journalists acquired new ideas and concepts in journalism

Highlighting the year's events were the initiation into Quill and Scroll and the announcement of the Tiger staff

BUSILY WORKING on their respective jobs are Stave Fabry and Karen Platt, business managers, and Dennis Breamer and Merlyn Hartzler, advertising managers.

Sports

Many sporting events afforded athletes the opportunity to display their skill and prowess, while gaining a valuable insight into sportsman ship and working with a group. The various sports contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the year and also gave students experience.

Football was first on the agenda of athletics. In addition to the game itself the athletes learn ed the fundamentals of clean rivalry, good sports manship and the basic rules of honesty and fair play. Although the game was lost, the team and the spectators showed their character by accepting the defeat graciously

During the winter basketball and wrestling were the exciting sports. For many years the games have been played at Central. However, with the final game of this year the students bid farewell to this gym and anticipated the games next year in the gymnasium of Southwest Junior High School. The wrestlers chalked up an impressive record this year. This was accomplished through interest of the school and the skill and sportsmanship of the wrestlers.

Many students forget the spring sports such as tennis, track, baseball and golf, but these sports play an important role in the school. Another group deserving credit are the spectators. It is their job to cheer the team on to victory, to take an avid interest in all sports and to accept defeat of victory with sense and intelligence

Albert Lea's fired-up grid team posted its best record in recent years by chalking up a 5-4 record. Future prospects also look bright since they often displayed some very impressive football during the season

Albert 1 c) soundly thumped Faribault, September 6 by a score of 25-7. A stout defense coupled with a precision like offense that scored a total of 219 vards to lead the way to victory for the Tigers

Farl Ashpole opened the Tiger scoring by running 26 vards for a touchdown. The extra point was missed so the Tigers held an early 6-0 lead. In the second quarter Ashpole again scored, this time on a 46 yard paint. The point after was again missed so Albert Lea left the field at half time holding a slim 14-6 margin Faribault's only taily came on a nifty pass play.

Marion Loge also scored, while Duane Harves and I om Benson teamed up to garnish the final tally for the night. The victory was a good start in the right direction for the Tiger team

Albert Lea had considerable trouble getting its oflense together and as a result dropped a 14-6 decision to Austin on September 13. The Packers scored twice in the first half while the Tigers were held scoreless. In the second half the Cherry and Blue gridders pulled their oftense together long enough for one sustained drive which resulted in a touchdown. Compile 5-4 Record for Grid Year

In the third game of the season, Albert Lea tan in to some inclement weather but still managed to 1 ik Fatrmont its second victim of the year by defeating the Cardinals 13-0. The statinch defense of the Tigers again was the main factor in securing the win in this wet and somewhat muddy affair on September 10

Roger Villarreal scampered around the left end on a 75 yard run, while a pass from Dick Oliphant to Ron Radke was responsible for the Tigers other score. Fair mont failed to penetrate the Tigers' territory

Albert Lea copped a $1-0 win from Winona on September 20, extending a streak which held the opponents storcless for a total of 11 straight periods dating back to the Austin game. The Tigers again coupled a splendid oftense and a staunch and stubborn defense

Co-captain Earl Ashpole carried the ball on six of the hirst seven plays from scrimmage to set up a neatly executed belly series fake. A pitchout to Villarreal gave the Tigers their first score. Villarreal also scored on two other occasions on runs of 11 and 2 vards. Gordy Larson scored on a 56 yard run, the only time he had an occasion to run with the ball. Oliphant and Marion Loge accounted for the other two scores. The win ran the Tiger record to three wins against one defeat

Bengals Get Slow Start, Win Two

Albert Lea's Bengal football team ended the 1957 campaign with a mediocre 2-3 record, but the record does not begin to tell the story behind this year's team. Alter a slow start that had many people wondering why the group could not get going, the team then chalked up two successive wins to end the year

Albert Lea opened its Bengal season September 18 against Fambault and came out on the short end of a 116 score in what could be termed a very even and tightly played ball game

On September 26 the Bengals hosted Austin and suffered a heart-breaking 20-19 loss. The Packers opened a quick 13-0 lead only to have the Bengals come back and tie the score. Steve Claybourn scored twice and Dave Olson once to give the Bengals an insecure 19-13 lead. Both teams then fought near mid-field until the Packers made one final march to tie the game at 19-19 and then made the extra point for the final score

October 3 found the Bengals traveling to Owatonna where they again were victims of their own mistakes and dropped their third straight game

The Bengals finally pulled out a win over Fairmont and then closed out its home season by defeating the Waseca Farm School 1942 in a game marred by extremely told weather. The Bengal's final game with Austin was canceled due to the flu germ which first his Austin and then A bert Lea.

Although the 1957-58 Bengal Basketball Team could only compile a three win, 12 loss record, they showed definite promise for the future. No less than five freshmen on the normally sophomore composed team played important roles in the fortunes of the young B squad Dick Core was the lone sophomore starter

Their rather unimpressive record is nusleading when considering the fact that many of the games were very close and could have easily gone either way

The Bengals started off the season on a winning note by whipping the Minneapolis Patrick Henry B squad 2 15. They then began a 12 game losing streak by dropping a 35-19 decision to Owatonna. On December 13 the Bengals looked impressive in being upped by the Austin B's 32-29. Another game that could have gone either way came the following week when the Bengals were downed by Northfield 20-23.

On February 21 the Bengals finally broke their 12 game losing streak by topping Faribault 40-34

Leading the Tiger wrestlers to a winning 7-3 record were the co-captains. Don Blood and Tom Brooke. The Ligers were coached by Paul Ehrhard, who took over the leain after a year's coaching at Kasson-Mantorville.

Before the regular season, the Tigers took part in the Mankato Invitational Tournament held at the Mankato State College. The only Tigers to place were Report Hendrickson, who won first place in the 112 pound class and Edward Hoeve, who took fourth in the 165 class.

Opening the Big Nine campaign at Owatonna, the Ligers lost to the Indians by a 36-16 score. Owatonna eventually won the regional. The next week they met another team, Mankato, who beat the Tigers 30-14

Larilly getting into the win column, the fage's frounced their non-conference foe, Stewartville, 37 8 116 s win almost duplicated the Jagers' win over the same team of last year. Evening their record at 2-2, they won an exciting match from a strong Northfield team, 27-19

Fraveling to Winona, the Tigers won their third straight match on a 35-13 trouncing of the Winhawks. A representative Rochester club gave the Tigers a so to before falling 26-18. Before the match the Rockets had been lightly considered. In what proved to be the last win in a strong of five victories, the Tigers out fought the Wasca Farm school, 31-14, with eight Tiger wins

Austin's Packers brought an abrupt end to the Tiger win Streak with a 24-23 squeaker at Austin. The Tigers fought back from a big deficit but couldn't quite go over the top. They got back in the win column by notching a 32-13 trouncing of the Wasera High School Bluejays.

The last dual meet of the year saw Albert Lea wind up its season with a 15 win over the Fairbault Falcois. The only sore spot in the meet was Bob Hendrickson's first loss after 18 straight victories. Lewis Kennedy ended the season unbeaten, with only a tie to mar his other wise perfect record. Tom Brooke finished 7-8

Competing in the district meet held in Austin, the Liger grapplers garnered first place by winning six first place berths, four seconds and two thirds. Allan Stolze, Bob Hendrickson, Lewis Kennedy, Dennis Breamer, Ed Hoeve and Tom Brooke were champions of their classes.

Action in the regional finals at Winona saw the Tigers win second place behind Owatonna, with Bob Hendrickson, Lewis Kennedy and Tom Brooke winning champion ships. Allan Stolze and Ed Hoeve captured second place, and Dennis Breamer wrestled to the consolation championship. The Tiger wrestlers finished with 55 points

The first match of the season found Owatonna running away from the "Bees" 46-8. Inexperience proved to be a major factor against them. They fared much better in the match with Mankato with a 26-26 fie

Completely turning the tables, the Bengals scored a 11-13 victory over Stewartville in a non-conference match. Then they took on the Hayfield varsity and whipped them, 48-10, to improve their record to 2-1-1.

Next came a hard lought 1. 22 tie with the rugged Northfield B squad. Putting them back in the win column, the Bengals eased by Winona 28. 4 in another close contest. Following this was a very close match with the Rochester B squad at Rochester, which found the Bengals winning on a tight 25-24 count

Keeping the win streak alive, they whipped the Waseca Farm School 39-13. Just as the varsity had its string broken, the Bengals lost to Austin's B squad 27-16. They got back on the win side with a win over Waseca High School, winning 31-16.

The 1957 track season turned out to be a building year for the young Tiger track squad. Captain John Nesheim led the way by being a consistent point getter.

First experience for the thinclads came in the form of the Alden team in a practice meet. There were three double winners in the meet, Nesheim, Roger Villarreal and Dave Palmer

Against Austin the team did not fate so well as they lost 72-37. Albert Lea got its share of firsts, but they could not gain more than one place in any of the events

Nesheim got all of his team's points with a third in the 110 yard dash at the Carleton Relays. Albert Lea finish ed 13th. In the Faribault Relays Nesheim again gainered his team's only points as the Tigers placed 24th.

A dual meet was scheduled with the Fairmont team, but it was cancelled because of rain. In the district meet held at Austin, the Tigers came in second behind host Austin. Nesheim, Villarreal, Ron Dahlen, Phil Henry, Palmer and Ken Johnson won trips to the regional meet held at Owatonna.

Mankato became the Tigers' first victim when the local netmen thoroughly trounced the Scatlets 81. Under the coaching of Bob Riege, the Tigers continued their fine play in downing Blue Earth 7-0

Next in line was Owatonna, whom the Tigers easily defeated by a 6-1 score. The Riegemen won their tourth straight meet of the year by suppling a tough Fairmont ream 6-5. In their final dual meet of the year, the Tigers were downed by the netmen from St. Peters.

Traveling to Austin for the district tournament, the Tigers were defeated early as the number one and two singles matches were lost as well as the doubles match. In the Big Nine Meet on May 31, the Tigers settled for a third place finish after many close matches.

This year the Riegemen had a rather inexperienced team with Gary Myran, Bob Goldman, Dick Cashman and Dick Anderson being the only returning veterans. Gary Myran was the only netman who had one of the top six positions last year.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE is represented in these three young natmon who were all mainstays on the squad this year.

Albert Lea's 1958 golf team faced one of its most difficult schedules in recent years. All in all the Tigers played nine matches, not including regional, state, Big. Nine and invitational meets

Opening the Tigers' season, April 22, was a match with Waseca on their course. The course, a trickey par-36, offered a stern opening test for the linksters

On April 25 the golf team traveled to Mankato to face the Scarlets. Year after year the Scarlets have had one of the best teams in the Big Nine. This year was no exception, although the Scarlets were hurt by the loss of two key players due to graduation.

April 29 found the golfers invading Austin for the first round of District 2 competition. Austin, last years Big Nine champion, had three lettermen from last year's team plus a host of B squaders

Other teams that appeared on the Tigers slate were Northfield, Owatonna, Faribault and Fairmont. The linksters also had return matches with Austin and Waseca. The Austin match decided the district. On May 29 the Ligers traveled to Fambault for the Big Nine Meet.

In his first year at Albert Lea, Coach Bill Standis led his linksters to a three won, two lost and one tied it on. Although the Tigers dropped the District Two title to Austin, many Tigers gained valuable experience for future years. Fred Jones shared co-medalist honors with Tom Kezar of Austin, thus enabling him to go to Rochester to compete in the regional tournament

At the regional Jones picked off third place plus a trip to the state meet in St. Paul. Jones ran into some putting difficulties but still managed to take the tenth spot in a field of 48

Albert Lea, for the second straight year, was the bridesmaid in the Big Nine Tournament. The meet, held on the long Austin Country Club, was undecided until the finish. Tiger captain, Hank Van Wier, carded a 35, two under par, on his last round to place the Tiger golfers right in the middle of the title picture. Albert Lea needed a 41 from its number three man Clair Fir Lis to wrap up the title, but Friday ran into difficulties out on the course and carded a 50 on his last nine. The Tigers did manage medalist honors, however, as Jones led all participants by recording a five over par 114 for the 27 holes played. The field included 45 players

The Tiger's baseball squad completed their second season in full competition as they rolled to an improved 2-3 record coached by Ralph Summers.

Co-captains of the 1957 squad were Paul Hove and Ronnie Mathews. These two boys provided not only capable leadership but also contributed highly with their offensive and defensive plays.

The diamond men started their season by losing to Austin, Mankato and Owatonna. The lack of strong hitters in the lineup showed as they couldn't get enough hits to pull the three games out. A leaky defense also was apparent during many games.

After this the team rolled back and gained two successive victories over Freeborn and Alden. In the Freeborn game the boys finally got a few hits and won 4-2. Meeting Alden in the first game of the district tournament, the Tigers won 5-1. Aaron Parkhurst, the main stay on the mound all year, threw a four hitter for the win, as the rest of the team played fine ball.

In the final game of the year the diamond men met a strong Austin team in the finals of the district tournament and won the game, 8-3.

The 1958 season wasn't too bright as the Tigers only have five returning lettermen. They were Bob Kaulmaun, LaMar Johnson, Dave Valdahl, Harry Christian son and Tom Osmuudson

Paul Nesheim's strong team rolled to an undefeated 8.0 record for the season in the annual intramural football program. Jerry Hatch's group faushed in the run ner-up position with a 4-3-1 record. Dave Valdahl's team followed with 3-4-1, and Bob Johnson's 0-8 mark

Nesheint's team used a big front line, a stout defense and a fine passing attack to gain the crown. Nesheim and Fred Jones were the ollensive leaders of the team as they completed many a pass for important gains. The defensive line was headed by Gary Myran, Bob Koptschke and John Jordahl as they held the opposing teams to an average of 12 points per game.

Hatch's team was led by Hatch and Jun Peterson on the offense and Larry Sterns and Gary Sleeper on delense throughout their games

Valdahl, Bill Svendson and Bob Hendrickson led Valdahl's group. They combined a well fashioned running attack along with a sparkling aerial game

Johnson's team was the hard luck bunch in the league as they were constantly being defeated

Director Ralph Summers arranged a post-season game for Neshem's championhip team against a faculty team. The teathers handed the champs their first defeat 30-18.

Nesheim, Krieger Capture Crown

Under the capable direction of Ralph Summers, the intramural basketball program completed another successful year. Jim Krieger led his tall, high scoring quin tet to the league crown, defeating Gordie Larson's five in the championship playoffs.

The champions rolled through the schedule with only one defeat, that coming at the hands of the Larson gang early in the year. Larson finished second, followed by Bob Hershey, Mike Gaetze, Ron Radke and Hollandak

In the playoffs following the windup of the regular season, Krieger downed Hollandale in the first round, while Larson slipped past Hershey. In the finals Krieger knocked off Larson's quinter to gain the championship

Kricker's team combined a well balanced scoring at tack, paced by Dave Valdahl and LaMar Johnson. The abounding was capably handled by Krieger and Don Loker. The edge they had shows up in the individual statistics, as they had three men in the top five scorers

Jack Moore was the overall scoring champ as he hat for 195 points in 12 games. Johnson trailed hum by hit ting for 160, while Valdahl finished third with 153. Of soil and Tasker finished fourth and fifth with 150 and 110 points, respectively.

Krieger also led in the team statistics department as they finished with a 48.5 average per game. They held their opponents to an average of 29.4 per try

On April 12 several teams consisting of five girls each journeyed to Rochester to take part in the American Jumor Bowling Congress state-wide tournaments

An afternoon of fun was held when individual tour naments and doubles were tried by the female bowlers

Features

Features or highlights enhanced the year greatly for all the members of the school. Not only were these events fun, but they also provided a valuable place for getting to know fellow students and to obtain the team spirit.

Hometoming was a time not only for the crowning of a beautiful and popular queen, but also a time to be proud in being a member of such a fine school. All to often in the excitement of the coronation, parade and ensuing dance, the fundamental purpose of the event was forgotten. This purpose was the game itself Students cannot forget the game, for this should be the highlight of the activities

I hers' Roar was another valuable experience in which students participated. This annual student production gave individuals a chance to display their talent and to work as a member of a group for the betterment of the school. This was a production entirely by the students, but the participants were not the only important people. The audience containing many students must show an active interest and support the endeavors of the cast and production staff

Drama afforded the students another opportunity to participate in a highlight of the year. Many long hours were spent on each production before it was presented. Almost every phase of high school life was rewarded and the year 1957-58 proved a truly memorable one for all.

School Spirit Reigns Over Activities

THIS PRIZE WINNING CLASS FLOAT demonstrated the cooperation and effort of the students which he ped to create a successful parade

Gady Leorated Lars sever har not query condidates riding in convertibles and excited torongs. A level onlookers made perfect the 1958 Homecoming Parade and bonfire festivities.

Michael Gaetze acted as general chairman of the parade while Carol Pickavance secured the trucks that were needed for the occasion. This year students con structed decorative floats portraying the slogan "Can the Birds." Each year a prize is given for the best slogan

Cooperation and effort shone forth on the night of October 9 as the parade moved down Broadway. Judges from the Chamber of Commerce selected winning floats on the basis of originality, artistic skills and the ability to enact the slogan. Prizes of money were given to organizations or homerooms having the best entries

Because of increased enrollment seven queen candidates were chosen instead of the usual five. These beauties lent much to the spirit of the Homecoming Festivities, as they participated in the many events

Giving an added touch to the parade were the Junior and Senior High Bands as they played familiar marches and performed various formations. The cheerleaders uso displayed their talent on a float, cheering to the school songs and some new yells

The snake dance was not put into effect this year, but both speciators and students moved to Morin Park for the traditional bonfire. School vells were led by the theerleaders, and the candidates and team were presented to the cheering crowd. Bob Kautmann and Jerry Qualley were responsible for the materials for the bonfire

AN AURA OF MYSTERY REIGNED SUPREME as an excited throng of Tiger fans cheered the team on to victory at the traditional bonfire.

Senior Band performed during the game half-time, rendering such selections as "When You Wish Upon a Star," "Heilo Young Lovers," and "The Red Wing Song Also demonstrating varied march formations, the band formed the letters 'RW' and "AL," a half-moon, and a longe star. As the band formed a large heart, "La Gzarine" was played and the Queen and her artendants were presented to the cheering Gowd. Float construction for the seven beauties was under supervis on of Peter Hollman and his committee

To complete this perfect day, the traditional Home conting Dance was held. Through the unuring effort of charanter Evelyn Wood, Mary Walker and Barbara Jenner, this event was open to students and alumns

Beautifully blended autumn colors enclosed the gymma fantasy-like wonderland as excited dancegoes whiled to the music of Spike Haskell's Band. A velver covered throng added royalty to the scene, while small orange-colored footballs bearing the names of the players acted as a reminder of the might's game. Masquers Enact

In begin another successful year of dramatics, the Semor High Drama Club presented "Father of the Bride a delightful comedy written by Edward Streeter. Mass Hildred Tennihill, adviser and director, cast the roles

Kay Banks, the bride who was played by Janet Gurwell announced to her timily that she and her steady boyfriend Buckley, alternately enacted by Jerry Hatch and Mark Knutson, had decided to get married

Buckley's old fashioned plans concerning he wedding ceremony caused a difference of opinion in the Bank's household. Judith Myers as Mrs. Blocks protested to his plans declaring that Kay deserved a more appropriate ceremony then a country ceremony with only a few will nesses. Mr. Banks, portrayed by Merald Nesje, whole heartedly agreed with Buckley's plans, much to the distress of Kay and Mrs. Banks

Robert Gunderson gave a commendable portraval of Kav's brother, who sympathizes with her when the voungest of the Banks. Formy who was played by Willham Lloyd, cast a teasing tongue—buzz. Formy's crony and fellow comforter, was classificational by Jay Vollum.

Bon Voyage" was the theme of the 1958 Tigers' Roar which was held in the high school auditorium on January 24, 25 and 27. Curtains opened on a Parisian hotel scene, filled with a multitude of teen-age American Field Service students.

The students had just spent a happy summer with their foster families in the countries throughout the European and Asian continents and had been looking forward to this rendezvous ever since they left the ship

it was to be their last happy memory before their long journey home. However, the teen-agers soon found themselves entangled in a chain of strange events

Ronni Matthies, star performer, lost a dime in the toke machine and was determined to get it back. When he took a flashlight from his suitcase, his fellow travelers thought he must certainly be after a notorious criminal Later, after frantically searching, he became so involved that he locked himself in the machine and created panis

Julie Argue and Bill Hanson played the parts of a French man and woman who were searching for their "little pet." In the third act a tiny pink French poodle was discovered behind the registration desk

Other important characters who did an outstanding job were Merald Nesje, a cynical pessimist, who felt the whole situation was useless, and Liz Johnsrud who was in a constant frenzy over Ronni's disappearance

Woven through this plot were vactous acts of singing daming, baton twirling and pantomining

In the finale the entire cast blended their voices to their own rendition of the theme song, "Bon Voyage, which was cleverly written by Mr. Robert L. Myers

Winter Carnival Highlights Vacation

Judith Myers and Donald Tasker reminisce over the night's events after being chosen to reign over the annual Winter Carnival

Combining the efforts of the Eagles' Club, Student Council Youth Council, and the Recommonal Department, the annual Winter Carnival was again put into effect. The recreation and dances that were scheduled took place during the two-week Christmas vacation.

Hockey, snow sculptoring and skating races were held for elementary, junior high, and senior high students David H. Olson and Steve Claybourn were held responsible for this year's races. Tobogganing was another of the carmival's activities, and seeing that all arrangements were made was the job of Pat Baker and her committee.

Jean Lumming and Jay Hutchins were crowned Printe and Princess of the Jumor High. Their royal attendants included Judy Enghritson, Bill Harding, Carol Lee, Bil Danielsen, Karen Mathews and David Peterson

The honor of King and Queen in the Senior High was bestowed upon Judy Myers and Don Tasker. Giving their support to the King and Queen of Snow were their attendants. Rosemary Donovan, Thomas Wayne, Diane Paudson, Douglas Hill, Nancy Kinsley, Charles Gulbrandson, Elizabeth Johnsrud, Thomas Brooke, Charlotte Wangen and James Kireger.

A bouquet of red roses was presented to the queen and each of the attendants carried a single rose

RADIANT SMILES GREETED a cheering audience as Carol Bisgaard and Paul Johnson were crowned King and Queen of Hearts.

To raise funds for seven charity organizations, memors of the Hono Society belong to the Hono Howelle of Drive February 3-11. Throughout the drive society members sold white, red and purple hearts valued at 25 cents 50 cents, and one dollar, respectively. One ballot for the King and Queen of Hearts was obtained with each 25 cent donation. Ballots were received by guessing the identity of student profiles exhibited in the cafeteria.

Bivan Neel acted as master of ceremonies for the coronation of the King and Queen of Hearts, which took place during the dance intermission. After announcing L.Donna Hansen. Gerald Cox. Diane Paulson one Dong as Hill as royal attendants, Carol Bisgaard and Paul Johnson were proclaimed as king and queen. Judith Myers. Queen of Snows, and Sally Olsen, Homecoming Queen, crowned the royalty

Another feature of the Have-a Heart Dance was the beard-growing contest sponsored by the Student Council Paul Nesheim, president, presented awards to Horst Hehr and Duane Harves, most original beards: Harold Christenson, bushiest beard; Peter Hoffman, toughest beard and Roger Berg, for the best crop of peach fuzz.

VERNON MIELKE, SHIRLEY JENSON AND ROBERT ULLMAN are the three main nerrators each portraying definite characters in the epic. By doing this they tell the story of an ordeal without heroics or sanctimoniousness.

Epic Poem Involves New Experiences

Speech department added a new feature, a 60 voice speech choir. Their first public appearance was May 6 when they presented Stephen Vincent Benet's Civil Wat epic, "John Brown's Body."

This epic is a huge and yet profoundly intimate narrative of the Civil War told in poetic diction and imagery with a realization that is vivid, stirring and brilliant

There was no attempt at period costumes or at seen ery.. The Madrigal singers added to the drama by conjuring the mood of the 1800's with timely songs.

Vernon Mielke, Shirley Jenson and Robert Ullman shared honors as narrators. Each one of them had a debnite character to portray. This epic contained many individual scenes such as Lincoln's anguished soliloquy in the White House, the Battle of Gettysburg and the exchange of prisoners between the Rebs and the Yanks.

But over and above these individual scenes is the fierce and human and exalted spirit of the whole. The Cavil War was not an isolated incident in American History but a wilderness in the heart of America—savage and desperate on both sides but also an expression of pride and conviction.

THE SPEECH CHOIR COMPOSED of 50 students from the speech class have an important part in the drame. Even without costumes there students contribute to the epic. They form the bedground and set the mood with their small singling and speaking pars. The Madrigal 5 ngers also blended their voices with the choristers for a successful performance.

DILIGENTLY REHEARSING her original oration is Janet Gurwell as Lowell Peterson and Ronald Matthres listen.

JUDITH NANNESTAD is willingly demonstrating her after dener speech to panel members, Carol Asnerud, Richard Stadhe in Koren Jacobson and Robert Ullman.

Highlighting Albert Lea's participation in the speech festival held in Winona was the speech choir's interpretation of "John Brown's Body," which earned them a superior rating from the judges' standpoint

Richard Stadheim, Karen Jacobson and Carol Aane tod a ved superior ratings on their panel discussion of Minnesota's Tax Program. Jay Vollum, Carol Gilpin and Lois S. Jensen got excellent and Robert Hoffman, Janet Hurst and Bonnie DeVries received very good. On debate Robert Ullman and Cortland Smith rated superior and Dorothy Stevens and William Svendson carned excellent ratings.

In the pantomime department Lowell Peterson received a superior on his pantomime, "Seminar Student on a Date" while Barbara Verdoorn and Arlene Miller cain ed excellents on their readings. Judith Nannestad rated excellent on her humorous after-dinner speech

On their original oratories both Janet Gurwell and Rose Schumacher came home with excellent ratings.

Representing Albert Lea in extemporaneous speaking was Betty Kofstad, who received a rating of very good, and Ronald Matthies carned an excellent

Tradition Says, Girls Must Pay

KANGAROO COURT proved fatal as one of the "law-yers" gave a whip cream punishment to a defendant

Sadie Hawkins began at moon with girls receiving tags with which they could tag any boy. Because the boys were suddenly sporting "no hunting" signs, unusual tactics were used to catch them

Viter being tagged, the girls had to drag their catch down to the bookroom to buy a marriage license, which was their admittance to the dance that evening

Comic strips from papers lined the walls, corn covered the floor and tattered streamers hung from the ceiling Appropriate costumes were worn

January 24 to 31 proved a week of hectic work for girls and a heaven for boys as 1 W1RP week advanced in full swing. Carrying boys' books, opening doors and paying for all were a few of the duties for girls

To end festivities, a dauce was held and several students on the Black List appeared before Kangaroo Court

"AIN'T I LUCKY," exclaims Audrey Stevens as she hangs on tightly to her two menfolk, Michael Flanegen and Larry Stern, victims of Sadie Hawkins

GATHERING AT THE CAPITOL, the students had the privilege of meeting with Senator Edward Thye and Representative Albert Quie

from Minnesota, who are pictured above. Students were free to visit the Congressmen in their offices whenever it was possible

Seniors Observe Nation's Capital

Alter many hours of orientation meetings, committee meetings and other preliminary work, 67 students from Freeborn County were ready to board the Burlington Zephyr enroute to New York and Washington on the annual "Know Your Government Senunar," which was held March 26 through April 7

The students became better acquainted with the Senate and House in action, while visiting Washington Several sightseeing tours were also included in the Washington program. The White House, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, Arlington Cemetery, Mount Vernon and other famous landmarks were seen by many tor the first time.

After Washington came New York. While in New York, the participants toured the United Nations Building. Broadway plays, Radio City and various museums were visited and, of course, the group took field trips to the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building and many other fascinating places in New York. Various foreign restaurants were visited by students as they divided up into their groups.

NOTEBOOKS AND PENS IN HAND was a familiar scene at all the meetings as taking notes was essential to remember all the information to bring back.

TAKING A BREATHER from the busy schedule in New York, Seminar students found the curb a welcome sight

ENERGETIC JUNIORS work hard as they finish the decorations for the prom

Creative Juniors Reveal

From September to May enthusoastic juniors planned the annual prom. A dance was sponsored by the junior class and the remaining money was financed by class dues.

On the long awaited May 10, Junior Senior Promgoers entered a beautiful flower garden in the cafeter i where excited couples are buffet style. Small tables were set throughout the room. Strains of mood music could be heard setting the atmosphere for the coming evening. Due to lack of funds, a buffet was served instead of the usual banquet. Couples were free to come and go at their own convenience.

The traditional promenade usually held in the halls from the cafeteria to the gym was changed to a walk around Central Park. It continued to the boys' gym where the grand march began a wonderful evening of dancing. Many parents and interested people were on hand to watch the promenade and see the boys dressed in white dinner jackets and girls in pastel formals.

Flower gardens, rivers, mills, brick garden walls and the sweet aroma of fresh flowers held everyone captive as the theme "Song of the South" was carried out

From an old plantation porch, Guy DeLeo's Orchestra could be heard keeping everyone in a dreamy mood. A flower garden surrounded an oaken well where four sophomore girls dipped punch for thirsty promgoers.

Providing entertainment were the Key Notes, composed of Bonnie Stephenson, Carol Bisgaard, Soma Syverson and Diane Paulson, who sang "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." Elizabeth Johnstud and Duane Harves sang "Friendly Persuasion." adding a romantic touch

The outside court was transformed into a flowers garden where promgoers could rest in the coolness of the evening and have a tere-a-tete.

Light hearted guys and gals left the dancing to begin the merry whirl of gay parties until the wee hours of the morning. Weary parents prepared huge quantities of food which were quickly consumed. Many sleepy-eyed couples ended the festivities with a huge breaklast.

Only memories are all, but all agreed the 1957 promises an unforgettable event that will be chairs all always.

In charge of the prom were the chairmen: Anne Esse, Caroline Villarreal, Marilyn Stevens, Arvis Loge, Betty Kolstad, Karen Hillstrom, Virginia Tennyson, Karen Jorgenson, LaDonna Hanson, Carol Bisgaard, Janice Johnson, Annis Hylbak, Duane Harves, Peter Hoffman, Susan LeBeau, Gordon Larson, David Olson, Merald Nesje and Paul Nesheim.

Supervisors were jumor teachers Mr. Wallace Kennedy and Mr. Nicholas Cords and the jumor counselors.

A New World

I his is the world we are entering

Success is our goal.

In unknown author once said

A man is a success who Works hard Loves much Prays often Has won the respect of older men And the love of young children

All of these factors have been offered to us as students in our American high schools

Fo work hard one must have knowledge to experience that feeling of self-contentment that comes only from a hard day's work. There is no feeling to one who wastes his hours away

I o love much-to be able to work in peace with your neighbor. To insure your children and their children a tranquil world

Fo pray often-for one hour each week, all students departed to attend his own church. The fact that we were all of different denominations did not make a difference; the important thing was that given the opportunity, most students gratefully acknowledged this weekly interim

To gain the respect of older men and the love of young children depends on one's ability to master and conquer the previous qualities listed—hard work, much love and to offer prayer

Yes, this is our goal
